

FROM THE OTHER WORLD SUTTON TALKED TO MOTHER

"Oh, My God, If Jimmie Had Not Spoken to Me I Would Have Died," She Writes

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 9.—Reading certain letters, the contents of which were withheld at the time, the board of inquiry was investigating the death of Lieutenant James Sutton and the cross examination of Mrs. Sutton, mother of the dead officer, occupied practically all of today's session. Referring to the ill fated automobile ride, Mrs. Sutton declared that if "Jimmie" had been himself he never would have asked Lieutenants Adams, Utley and Osterman to ride with him.

Adams and Utley hated him she declared. May 4th, in a letter to H. M. Swartz, clerk of the marine corps in the paymaster's office at Washington, she declared the "United States would be compelled to sit up and take notice as to what kind of men run the navy and shield a pack of low brutes."

"The love between Jimmie and myself," continued the mother in this letter to Swartz, "was the greatest that could exist between two persons. If Jimmie met with an accident I felt it at once. Well, the night those beasts were laying their plans for Jimmie, an awful fear came over me and my two daughters. We couldn't talk and each kept away from the other for fear of betraying our feelings. Next day Mr. Sutton came in and asked if I could stand some awful news. He told me Jimmie was reported to have killed himself.

"Oh, God, Mr. Swartz," the writer exclaimed, "If Jimmie had not spoken to me I would have died. Then Jimmie came up to me and said: 'Mother dear don't believe it; I never killed myself, Adams killed me; they beat me to death, then Adams shot me to hide the crime.' He told me how they laid to trap him; how he walked into it; how Utley grabbed him to pull him out of the automobile; how they held him while Osterman beat him; how, when he was lying on the ground, some one kicked him in the side and smashed his watch. He begged me not to die but live and clear his name. Well, after three weeks I proved some things that he told me were true. After repeatedly demanding evidence for four months I got it, and within the last month I have proved everything he told me."

Under cross examination, Mrs. Sutton bore herself well. Three more witnesses were summoned as follows: Charles H. Russell, a resident of this city; Corporal Todd, of the marine corps, corporal of the guard the night of Sutton's death and a third Washingtonian whose name was not divulged.

THOUSANDS ATTEND THE GREAT LAND DRAWING

Over An Hundred Thousand Registrations for Land in the Great Northwest Territory

SPOKANE, Aug. 9.—The great land drawing on three tracts of government land—Flathead, Coeur d'Alene and Spokane Indian reservations were opened at 10 o'clock this morning when little Helen Hamilton, niece of Mayor Boyd of Coeur d'Alene, stepped into the middle of a pile of 10,500 envelopes containing applications for land. Several hundred people stood around the platform when Judge James Witten of Washington, D. C., formally opened the drawing on one of the last big tracts of Uncle Sam's.

Unlike "squatter" days, the modern method of distributing land moved with the precision of clock work. The first luck envelope contained the name of Isadore Selig of Myrtle Creek, Oregon. A faint cheer arose, following in rapid order as Miss Hamilton, aided by Miss Christine Donlon and Miss Harriett Post, plunked the envelopes from the pile. The spectators who were now anxious to hear the verdicts of the first twenty envelopes, crowded up to the platform where newspapermen and government clerks grabbed at bits of news bearing the names, starting them throughout the land by special wires running to the drawing stand.

For two hours in the heat of the midday sun the three little girls pranced over the pile of yellow envelopes plucking fortunes from thousands of applications. Long before the drawing began, Judge Witten and a corps of officers and clerks began putting everything in readiness for the drawing. Twenty cast-iron cans, tightly sealed were placed on the platform. Shortly before 10, two men started the task of prying them open. After giving anyone present a chance to come to the platform and pick his own envelope if he could, with a forfeiture to any successful number after,

Judge Witten motioned Harvey Ham and George Canfield, both of Spokane, to start the task of mixing the 10,500 envelopes with a pitchfork provided for the occasion. Spokane residents in the persons of John Hedmark and Charles G. Cromwell were the next two lucky winners of land. At this juncture, A. H. Ratteree of Little Rock, Arkansas, a professional "talker," was called to the platform and started the task of reading, crying aloud the three thousand names which may be drawn. Five hundred names were drawn in the first two hours.

In the home of Mrs. E. J. Laird of Spokane, two are happy, due to kind fate which played into the hands of Helen Hamilton when she picked an envelope from one side of the platform, then tripped to the other side and plucked another. She took them to Judge Witten who opened them in order, to find that the mother and son had drawn successive winners. It was the most dramatic incident in the entire first day of the land drawing.

(By Associated Press.)

ATHENS, Aug. 9.—The Greek government today handed the Turkish minister a formal reply to the porte's note in which it was asked of Greece to express her disapproval of the annexation agitation in Crete and to formally declare she had no ambitions regarding the island. The reply reaffirms Greece's intention of maintaining an attitude of neutrality in regard to Crete and declared it would be beyond her lawful capacity or powers for Greece to make an announcement respecting the future of Crete, which matter rests entirely with protecting powers. The situation is considered materially improved in official circles.

Oswald's Testimony Creates Sensation

Former Tenderloin King Tells of Evading the Police

(By Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—There was the semblance of a sensation in the trial of former Chief of Police Broadhead today when Nick Oswald revealed the fact that some months ago while detectives of the district attorney's office, the sheriff and police of this city were scouring the country for him, while the grand jury waited for days to hear his testimony, he was unostentatiously enjoying himself at the home of a brother-in-law at the corner of Fortieth and Figueroa streets in this city.

Under cross examination Oswald admitted that he gave false testimony regarding the ownership of property in the redlight district to the grand jury. Also that he was nearly "broke" at the time he had previously stated he was paying Broadhead, former Mayor Harper and former Police Commissioner Schenck each large sums of money monthly for protection.

AMERICAN LANDS ARE GOING TO WASTE

Thousands of Homeseekers Invading Canada Because of the Inactivity of Uncle Sam, Says Delegate in Speech

SPOKANE, Aug. 9.—"The government of the United States is sitting idly by while millions of dollars' worth of natural resources is going to waste. American lands are going to waste, while last year 65,000 Americans sought homes in Canada. The Appalachian forestry bill, was twice killed by Uncle Joe Cannon, notwithstanding the dispensary system of South Carolina, that there's two much water there," said E. J. Watson, commissioner of the South Carolina department of agriculture, commerce and industry, who shed a few castors into the ring before the National Irrigation congress this afternoon when he uttered the foregoing with such telling effect that the convention was kept in an uproar. Watson wasn't entirely of the opinion that the government should give way to private interests. He thought, on the contrary, that the government should loose a few million in irrigation and drainage projects to this end and let fly a few oratorical pyrotechnics where they would do the most good. The South Carolinian became so enthusiastic over his subject that he urged as a final passage that the government should take control of such coast rivers (east and west) as might be made navigable for the purpose of making them waterways for the smaller battleships in time of need for the national defense. The speakers today were, F. H. Newell, director of the United States reclamation service; Governor Hay and President Barstow. Among the known candidates for the office of president are: Governor Gooding of Idaho, former Governor Pardee of California and Congressman Mondell of Wyoming. Pardee was appointed temporary chairman of the resolutions committee. The question as to the next meeting place has narrowed down to a fight between San Francisco and Pueblo, Colorado. A new constitution providing a business-like basis was adopted by the congress this afternoon without a dissenting vote.

The pay shoot is now opened up from the 100-foot level to the 260-foot. It is uniform in size and quality for that distance. It is off to the south of the winze at the bottom. With a little additional depth laterals will be run out to the pay ore and stoping will commence on the new level.

The shipments for the last week have been a little heavier than they were for the week before. About forty-five tons per day have been sent out. The grade of ore remains about the same.

BIG LEASE AT PIONEER IS AFTER DEPTH

PIONEER, Aug. 9.—The winze on the Pioneer lease was driven past the 300-foot level without lateral work of any kind. The bottom is around 325 feet below the surface. It is not in the shoot, though well on the vein. Work continues on all three levels of the lease. Stoping is being done on the 110-foot level along the former lines. A considerable width of pay ore yet remains at this level, despite the months of diligent work done here. The big stope on the 220-foot level is also busy as ever. The bulk of the shipments come from this point. At the 260, the lowest developed level of the property, one drift is being prosecuted. This work yields a fair grade of rock.

INTEREST ON BONDS REMITTED BY NIXON

COUNTY TREASURER DEPOSITS
BONDS WITH TONOPAH
BANKING.

Through the Tonopah Banking corporation, the bond issue of Nye county has been completed and the county will receive from Senator Nixon the sum of $51,250. Yesterday morning the county treasurer deposited the bonds in the Banking Corporation, drawing on Senator Nixon for the amount.

The Bonanza was in error in its article of Sunday morning wherein it was stated that the National bank of this city was the agency through which the matter was finished. It appears that the latter institution is the depository for the county and on account of that fact this paper was led to believe that it would handle the money end of the transaction. As a matter of fact, the bonds were never in the vault of the First National bank of this city. Instead they were locked up in the safe in the treasurer's office until yesterday morning when they were transferred to the Tonopah Banking Corporation.

The bonds were dated June of this year, at which time Senator Nixon was ready to take them up. However, the bonds were not ready until this month, which made two months' interest due. The commissioners did not feel like paying the interest in view of the non-delivery of the notes. The Reno agency of Mr. Nixon was informed of this fact with the result that the senator advised remitting the two months' interest to the county. This sum, in addition to the premium paid, will make the check to the county in the sum mentioned.
